GMAT SYLLABUS & EXAM PATTERN

GMAT is a 2 hour and 15 minute long exam, with an optional 10- minute break in between. The exam consists of three sections, namely.

The Total GMAT exam score is 805.

GMAT Score Range

Section Name	Score Range	Score Interval	Standard of Measurement
Data Insights	60-90	1	3 Points
Verbal Reasoning	60-90	1	3 Points
Quantative Reasoning	60-90	1	3 Points
Total	205-805	10	30-40 Points

GMAT Data Insights

Data Insights section aims to assess a Candidate's data analysis Skills through examination of Complex data and draw meaningful insights thereupon. You are allowed to use an on- screen Calculator for this Section.

DI Section Focuses on 5 types of Questions -

1. Data Sufficiency
2. Graphics Interpretation
3. Table Analysis
4. Two Part Analysis
5. Multi-Source Reasoning

GMAT Verbal Reasoning

This section contains questions on Reading Comprehension and Critical Reasoning. Here's a further breakdown of the topics tested in the Verbal section-

Critical Reasoning

Questions are based on short passages (usually 100 words or less). You are asked to choose an answer that either weakens, strengthens or evaluates an argument. CR assesses your ability to analyse/construct arguments and evaluate/develop action plans. No specialised topic knowledge is needed for this part; you can easily ace it through regular practice.

Reading Comprehension

Reading Comprehension questions assess your reading skills to: identify main and supporting ideas, draw inferences, apply information, analyse style and understand logical structure. Remember, Reading Comprehension is not testing you on speed reading, rather, it's evaluating your ability to interpret the text and understand the logical connections among key points.

GMAT Quantitative Reasoning

This section assesses your problem solving skills through questions based on Arithmetic and Algebra. Here's a further breakdown of the topics tested in the Quantitative Reasoning-

Arithmetic

Multiples and Factors, Number Properties, Fractions, Decimals, Percentage, Power and Roots, Average, Probability, Set Theory, Mixtures and Allegations, Ratio and Proportion, Descriptive, Statistics, Pipes, Cisterns, Work Time, Speed, Time, Distance, Simple and Compounded Interest
